Magoffin County High School

While parents' involvement in their children's education tends to decrease in the middle and high school years, it is still a powerful predictor of academic achievement, college enrollment, and other positive outcomes for young people.

Research shows when parents are involved, students achieve more, regardless of socio-economic status, ethnic/racial background, or the parents' educational level.

We welcome you to volunteer in Magoffin County Schools. The active participation of parents and community members in the classroom extends the effectiveness of teachers and staff.

Volunteers also help the district to deliver valuable services to students and schools that would not be feasible without the support of the community.
